

Mock Interview Feedback Form

Chapter 15.4: Interview Skills and Workplace Readiness

About This Feedback Form

This form is designed to provide structured, constructive feedback following a mock interview. Thoughtful feedback helps the interviewee identify both strengths and areas for improvement. When completing this form, be specific, balanced, and focused on behaviors that can be changed.

Tips for Giving Effective Feedback:

- Be specific - "Your answer about leadership included a strong STAR example with measurable results" is more helpful than "Good answer about leadership."
- Balance positive and constructive - Identify both strengths and areas for improvement
- Focus on behaviors - Comment on what the person did, not who they are
- Be actionable - Provide suggestions that can be implemented in future interviews
